

August 10, 2026
STAR MICRONICS CO., LTD.

To Our Valued Business Partners

Notice Regarding the Absorption-Type Merger of the Company

We hereby announce that, effective September 1, 2026, Star Micronics Co., Ltd. (the "Company") will carry out an absorption-type merger in which Solsticia Corporation, the Company's parent company, will be the surviving company and the Company will be the absorbed company (the "Merger"). In connection with the Merger, on the same date, the surviving company will change its corporate name to "Star Micronics Co., Ltd." and will adopt the same head office location and representative as the Company, and will continue the Company's business without any change to its organizational structure or operations.

Your transactions and business relationships with us will remain unchanged. However, please note that the Company's capital, corporate number, and Qualified Invoice Issuer registration number will be as set forth below.

1. Company Overview

Company name (surviving company)	Star Micronics Co., Ltd. (name changed from Solsticia Corporation effective September 1, 2026)
Head office location	20-10 Nakayoshida, Suruga-ku, Shizuoka City, Shizuoka
Capital	To be changed to 100,000,000 yen in connection with the Merger
Representative	Mamoru Sato, Representative Director, President and Executive Officer
Corporate number	To be changed to 8010401194003 in connection with the Merger

*The Qualified Invoice Issuer registration number will be the corporate number prefixed with "T": T8010401194003.

*Corporate number and Qualified Invoice Issuer registration number are identifiers used for Japanese tax and invoicing purposes.

2. Regarding Contracts

The contractual status, as well as all rights and obligations, under contracts already concluded with the Company will be comprehensively succeeded to by the surviving company as a result of the Merger, with no change to existing terms and conditions of business. Accordingly, re-execution of contracts, exchange of documents, or other procedures in connection with the Merger will, in principle, not be required. Should any separate procedures be necessary on your side, we would appreciate it if you would contact your sales representative at the Company.